ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

Annual Convocation of North Carolina R. A. M. in This City Last Night.

ATTENDANCE IS GRATIFYING.

Address of Welcome and Response—Hearing of Reports and Transaction of Routine Work—Grand Commandery Assembles To-night.

The annual convention of the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of North Carolina, convened last night in the Masonic Temple with a large attendance of representatives from the various lodges in the State. The number of visitors present is larger than any meeting held in recent years and the gathering of Masons in Wilmington has aroused the greatest interest and enthusiasm among the local fraternity. The committee of entertainment is exerting every effort to royally entertain the distinguished visitors and is succeeding most admirably.

The Grand Chapter was called to order at 8 o'clock, with Deputy Grand High Priest H. G. Smallbones, of Wilmington, presiding, Grand High Priest J. C. Drewry, of Raleigh, having been detained at home on account of sickness in his family. The Temple Quartette, composed of Messrs. U. M. Robinson, H. K. Holden, C. H. Cooper and C. E. McMillan, rendered several vocal selections, after which Past Grand King Eugene S. Martin, of Wilmington, delivered the welcome address.

Mr. Martin's speech was eloquent and most appropriate. He extended a most cordial welcome and then gave a full history of the Grand Chapter from the time of its organization in 1803. This is the centennial of Concord Chapter No. 1, of Wilmington. This Chapter was the first organized in the State and is the mother of Masonry in North Carolina.

Judge Francis D. Winston, of Windsor, Bertie county, responded pleasantly on behalf of the Royal Arch Masons present and expressed great pleasure in the visit to the historic city of Wilmington. He referred happily to the Masonic fraternities in the city and to the order throughout the State.

The Grand Chapter formally opened with routine business and reports of officers were received. The following standing committees were appointed:

Credentials—Lot Williams, J. W. Oden, C. C. Brown.

Doings of Grand Officers—J. K. Norfleet, M. S. Willard, J. H. Southgate.

Charters and Dispensations—S. J. Cain, E. B. Neave, P. A. Wilson.

Finance—A. B. Andrews, Jr., W. H. Bain, Jno. W. Oden.

Appeals and Grievances—W. H. Chadbourn, W. P. Wemyss, H. Sternberger.

Jurisprudence—M. S. Willard, J. K. Norfleet, E. B. Neave.

Fraternal Correspondence—James Southgate.

Necrology—E. S. Martin, J. W. Shuford, F. M. Moye.

Unfinished Business—L. A. Dodsworth, F. H. Short.

Returns—T. B. Womack, J. H. Foote, F. Boyette.

The following resolution, introduced by Mr. M. S. Willard, was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, is now in session in this city in annual convocation; be it

Resolved, That the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, send to them fraternal and most cordial greeting, hoping that they may have a profitable and harmonious meeting, and with the sincere wish that the grand principles of Friendship, Charity and Benevolence, which they so faithfully exemplify, may be promoted in all their work.

Resolved, That the Grand Secretary be instructed to transmit to the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, a copy of this resolution.

Refreshments were served during the evening in the banquet hall.

The representatives in attendance upon the Grand Chapter are as follows:

Concord Chapter No. 1, Wilmington, W. H. Chadbourn, W. A. Williams, C. C. Brown; Fayetteville, J. B. Wilson, W. P. Wemyss; Tarboro, A. M. Fairley; Raleigh, T. B. Womack, H. C. Butler; Greensboro, H. NORTH CAROLINA PYTHIANS.

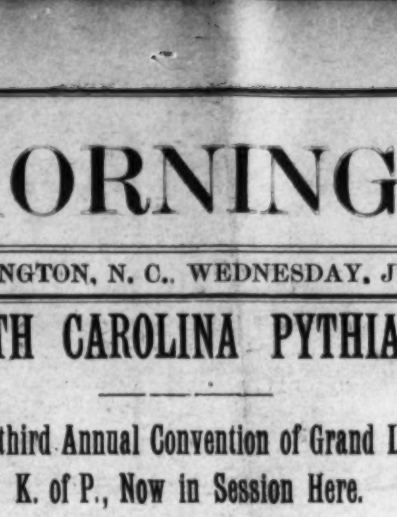
Thirty-third Annual Convention of Grand Lodge, K. of P., Now in Session Here.

Attendance Unusually Large—Opening Meeting and Public Reception in the Y. M. C. A.—Knights of Khorassans in Great Numbers Here for Ceremonial Session—Addresses, Etc.

The 33rd annual convention, Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of North Carolina, convened last night at 8 o'clock in the handsome new Castle Hall of Stonewall, Clarendon and Jefferson lodges, of this city, on the third floor of the Murchison Bank building. Grand Chancellor J. L. Scott, of Graham, N. C., presiding, and every officer of the Grand Lodge present. The attendance of representatives is unusually large, one hundred and eleven having been admitted by the Credential Committee upon the assembling of the Grand Lodge. The hall is very attractively decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers and the gathering last night was a most auspicious one.



GRAND CHANCELLOR J. L. SCOTT,
Who is presiding over the Thirty-third Annual Convention, Grand Lodge, K. of P.

The work of the opening session was principally routine, consisting of a roll call of officers and the reception of the report of the Credential Committee. The Past Chancellor's Rank was conferred upon nearly a hundred. The reports of officers were referred to the Committee on Distribution, after which the meeting adjourned and members of the Grand Lodge repaired to the large Y. M. C. A. auditorium, a block distant, where a splendid public reception was held.

Reception at the Y. M. C. A.

The auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. was tastefully decorated for the reception and was thronged with lady and gentlemen guests. Past Chancellor S. Behrends, of Germania Lodge No. 4, this city, presided, and seated upon the rostrum with him were Supreme Vice Chancellor C. E. Shiveley, of Richmond, Ind.; Supreme Master of Exchequer T. D. Meares, of Wilmington; Grand Chancellor J. L. Scott, of Graham; Grand Vice Chancellor L. D. Robinson, of Wadesboro; Col. Walker Taylor, chairman of the Grand Lodge Judiciary Committee; Col. W. J. Woodward, of Wilmington, chairman of the Reception Committee; Maj. Wm. F. Robertson, of Wilmington, A. S. Barnard, Esq., of Asheville, N. C., and others.

The welcome address was made by Maj. Wm. F. Robertson in his characteristic, happy manner and the response was by Mr. Barnard in an excellent speech, eloquently delivered. The addresses were interspersed by a brief musical programme under the successful direction of Mr. E. H. Munson, who played the accompaniment. Miss Mary Cole sang with charming effect "When Thou Art Near, 'Tis Day," (Herrmann Lohr), and Mr. Alex. S. Holden rendered in excellent voice, "The Song of the Anvil" (Petrie). Both of the selections were appreciated by the audience and were greatly applauded.

Following the exercises, the ladies of Wilmington served delightful refreshments and as late as it was possible for them to do so, the visitors left for the Seashore Hotel on special suburban cars.

Maj. Robertson's Welcome Address.

Past Chancellor Robertson, in welcoming the visiting Pythians and their lady friends to the city, said in part:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The Committee of Arrangements for the thirty-third convention of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias of North Carolina, has given to me the pleasant privilege of extending to you the welcome of your brothers in Wilmington, and of our people generally. In this good city where so many good things have originated, the tri-colored banner of Tar Heel Pythianism was first unfurled more than thirty years ago, hence it is very fitting that your pilgrimage be to the birthplace of that fraternalism which has found so rapid growth in the hearts of the men of the Old North State. It is your splendid record as a fraternal organization; it is because you are not always getting ready to do good things, but because you go ahead and do them, that wins you a cordial welcome as you assemble from year to year in the cities of North Carolina.

It is unnecessary to speak of the generally well known work that the order of Knights of Pythias is doing wherever the altar of Friendship, Charity, and Benevolence has been dedicated. The care of the sick, aiding the widow and orphan, relieving misfortune, sending sunshine into darkened homes and hearts—these are the well known purposes of the order. I would call your attention to another mission which, while not one of its cardinal principles, is wonderfully alive and progressive in the order today. I refer to the upbuilding and strengthening of independent, patriotic character in its members.

EX-MAYOR J. D. McCALL, OF CHARLOTTE,

This order is strictly and solely American and has already followed the flag into Alaska, Cuba and the Philippines. To maintain her proud position as the foremost nation of the world, our country needs above all else men of clean and rugged character; men who place conscience before expediency, who place principle above popularity; men who scorn a personal gain that stabs the general welfare; men who are guided in their conduct by a solemn sense of duty rather than by self interest. The general average of the individual character of its citizenship establishes the stability of a commonwealth. A well equipped navy and strong army we must have, but the future peace, dignity and welfare of the nation rest upon the morals of the people. When morality weakens, national decay begins. This law, true of nations, is equally true of races and individuals. History records the meteoric career of ancient republics and kingdoms blighted and destroyed by moral rot. The power of gold, the skill of the arts and sciences were impotent to save them when individual character became weakened and degraded. The weakest nations of this present age are those of smallest moral calibre.

Racial history has been along the same lines. The American Indian, once the wild, proud master of this great continent, caring little for character and less for moral obligation, has practically passed from the face of the earth. Without doing injustice to a race which I shall always be glad to see prosper along the right lines, it can be truly said that lack of character more than all else has retarded the advancement of the negro since his exit from slavery. Since that time the South of its own generous volition has spent upon his education more than $150,000,000, a generosity under such circumstances that it has won the applause of the world, and yet to a great extent a kindly meant but misdirected and unappreciated benevolence. The attempted mental superstructure has proven too weighty for the frail moral foundation. Racial advancement necessitates the cultivation of the heart rather than of the head. Until the Golden Rule and the Ten Commandments find deeper lodgment in that untutored heart, until moral obligation more strongly influences that life, just so long will the mania for elaborate mental training be productive of ambitions utterly impossible of fulfillment, and of a discontent more dangerous than ignorance. Education alone is as powerless to produce manhood as legislation is to produce right citizenship. Thus does all history prove that nations, races, and individuals rise or fall by the inexorable standard of backbone and character.

That splendid patriot and Pythian, William McKinley, spoke prophetically of the nation's "manifest destiny." The phrase was not altogether apt. America's destiny is manifest to the God of nations only; the human mind is bewildered in the attempt to compass its limit or its greatness. Consider her marvelous industrial advancement, the very wonder of this present age. Hosts of the keenest brains of the financial world unceasingly struggling for commercial supremacy; thousands of trains day and night, transporting the rich product of mine, factory and farm; the eternal hum of millions of spindles; the lurid lights of furnaces forever ablaze; industrial life by springs and bounds magnificently plunging forward into a future wonderful in its promised greatness, a future that will demand the best there is in human character to advance and maintain. With a patriotic realization of this fact, every one of the 600,000 human links in the great American chain of Pythianism are welded and strengthened that it may be strong and faithful in the time of the nation's need. The Pythian obligation requires a high standard of civic duty. The beautiful stars and stripes find an honored place in the thousands of Castle Halls throughout the land; that loved emblem of liberty carried victoriously into the country's first great war by the immortal Washington, the flag under whose folds, in her recent war, brave Worth Bagley, a North Carolinian, was the first to offer up his life in his country's cause. In the presence of that flag every member of this order is awakened to a stronger patriotism and a higher regard for public and private duties, human elements that strongly make for the betterment and continued moral and industrial supremacy of the nation. Thus along with its benevolent work the order of Knights of Pythias is building up and increasing a strong, unselfish, patriotic citizenship, a high ideal of personal character; and among the leaders in this work are the gallant men of North Carolina, whom we have as our honored and very welcome guests to-night.

MAJ. WM. F. ROBERTSON.
Past Chancellor, Stonewall Lodge No. 1, who last night so eloquently welcomed the Pythians to Wilmington.

And now a few words, more particularly meant for the ladies, and I am done. This is an iconoclastic age; the truth of many anciently honored maxims is no longer admitted; the sayings which were veritable rules of life for our forefathers are no longer respected. I can personally testify that "spare the rod and spoil the child" was most highly regarded and vigorously executed even as late as my own boyhood days; now few adults give it credence and children unanimously scorn it. That happy aggregation of potent, grave and reverend seigniors, the Khorassans, come boldly to the front in a recently issued programme, and say,

"Early to bed and early to rise.
Does very well for aged old guys.
But makes a man miss all the fun
till he dies."

"The early bird catches the worm"; nowadays nobody gives the bird admiration for being early, and learned students of biology admit that had the worm not been an early riser his end would have been less pathetic. And thus all along the line ideal truths are shattered in this stage of protest, originality, and cynicism. There is one saying, however, that goes unassailed, the truth of which is planted deeply in the world, a truth as sacred as the love of woman, as everlasting as the stars: "The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." No married man and father dare question that statement, and if there is a married man so bold as to argue the proposition, I sincerely trust that in the sweet bye and bye its adorable truth will be awakened in his benighted heart as he strolls the floor in the wee small hours bearing in his paternal arms a wriggling, struggling morsel of humanity whose tireless, stupendous voice is out of all proportion to its size, and whose little body contains an ache which refuses to budge even when attacked by broadsides of catnip and paregoric.

Ruskin most truly said that "no man ever yet led a right life who was not chastened by a woman's love, strengthened by her courage, and guided by her discretion," and I believe it equally true that no organization whose work is charitable and benevolent will ever attain its greatest usefulness or highest destiny without the sympathy, advice, and co-operation of woman, hence it is most gratifying to this chivalric order to have so many of the splendid women of North Carolina with us to-night, and we trust that we may always receive and merit your help and approval.

Wilmington is happy to have as her honored guests the gallant Knights of North Carolina and their fair ladies. I know that there is no freer, more generous hospitality than that of this Cape Fear section, and the very best of it shall be yours during your stay with us. Latch strings are out, our hands, hearts and homes are yours. We trust that your deliberations will mightily advance the interests of your beneficent order and that your visit will be most pleasant. As you attain these good ends, you will make happy indeed, the hospitable people of this glorious old city in whose behalf I extend to you a most cordial welcome.

The Sessions To-day.

The Grand Lodge of Pythians will assemble at 9:30 o'clock this morning in Castle Hall and an important session is expected as the annual election of officers will probably take place. Many are disappointed that Grand Vice Chancellor L. D. Robinson will not permit his name to go before the convention for Grand Chancellor, but he has stoutly maintained that he desired the honor to fall upon other shoulders. A number of prominent Pythians have been mentioned for the place and the contest is expected to be very lively. At 1 o'clock lunch will be served by the ladies of Wilmington in Pythian Hall in the MacRae building. All members of the Grand Lodge, their families and friends, are expected to be in attendance.

Festive Knights of D. U. K. K.

To-night has been turned over to Suez Temple No. 73, Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan, headed by that prince of good fellows, Mr. J. A. Solomons, of Charlotte, who is master of ceremonies. The exercises will take place in the ball room of the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, and will consist of the semi-annual ceremonial and business sessions, followed by an elaborate banquet to members of the Temple and all surviving tyros. The sessions will be presided over by Rev. J. A. Dorritiee, Past Royal Vizier, in the absence of Dr. Chas. A. Bland, Royal Vizier, who found it impossible to attend. Mr. Solomons is secretary of the Temple and all other members of the Official Divan with about a hundred other votaries are here for the great Feast of Summa—Hayhotim. As honored guests of the Temple there are present Imperial Prince Jno. H. Holmes and Imperial Secretary, H. W. Belding, of St. Louis, and Imperial Kadi D. F. Summey, formerly of Charlotte, now of Cincinnati. They are all Pythians of high rank, members and officers of the grand lodges in their respective States and are being royally entertainwhile here.

Sheriff Wallace, of Mecklenburg county, arrived yesterday and expects to take back with him to-day the escaped convict, John Horne, colored, arrested here a few days ago at the instance of Van Griffin, the colored detective of Charlotte. There may come a hitch in the proceedings, however, as Horne has employed counsel, who are considering the matter of bringing habeas corpus proceedings to secure his release. His attorneys are Iredell Meares and Cameron F. MacRae, Esqs.

— Mr. Sam. Bowden, of Warsaw, an old friend and companion in bird hunting of the field editor, was a welcome visitor to the Star office yesterday.

THE FRANCHISE ASSESSMENT.

Savannah News: The assessments of the franchises of the railroads by the Controller General are not, in all probability, a surprise to the officials of the roads. Of course they did not expect they would be so high before they heard the views of the Controller General on the subject, but they have been in conference several times in regard to the franchises and knew pretty well the valuation he would place upon them if no agreement were reached.

The railroad officials would have much preferred to settle the matter with the Controller General. There are reasons for thinking they did not want to carry the matter to a board of arbitration, and, perhaps, into the courts. At the session of the Legislature at which the bill taxing franchises was passed the railroads did not make a very vigorous fight against the bill. They were apparently willing to pay a small franchise tax, and perhaps thought that the franchises would be assessed at but little more than the valuation at which they were returned. The valuation at which the Controller General has assessed them, however, will increase the taxable burden of the roads very greatly. In the case of the Central of Georgia Railway, for instance, if the valuation of the Controller General stands, the taxable burden will be increased pretty nearly one-half.

As to whether the matter will be carried into the courts or not, nothing can be stated at this time with any degree of certainty. If no substantial reduction is made by the arbitration boards, it is probable that there will be an appeal to the courts. It was said by the attorneys of the railroads at the time the franchise bill was passed that the bill was defective.

But it is a question whether there is much to be gained by attacking the law in the courts. If it should be shown to be faulty the Legislature would amend it, or enact a new law that would stand the test in the courts. It is the purpose of the people to tax franchises. Franchises are taxed in several of the States, and, doubtless, in the course of a very few years will be taxed in all of them.

It is probable therefore that the owners of franchises that are taxable in this State will devote their efforts to getting as low an assessment as possible. And it would seem to be wise policy on the part of the State not to put a burden upon the roads that would tend to discourage them from making improvements and extending their connections. The true policy would be to start taxing the franchises at a valuation that wouldn't handicap the roads, and increase the valuation as the earning power of the roads increased.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND THE COAL TRUST.

Baltimore Sun: It looks as if Attorney-General Knox may soon be compelled to institute proceedings against the railroads and coal-mining companies which are commonly known as the Coal Trust. For the last several weeks the Interstate Commerce Commission has been conducting an investigation in New York into the methods of the alleged trust. In order to get at the facts the commission requested that there be placed at its disposal by the Lehigh Valley Coal Company certain contracts for the purchase and transportation of coal. The company refused to produce these contracts, and its refusal to comply with the commission's request was sustained by Judge Lacombe, of the United States Circuit Court. The main purpose of the investigation by the commission is to determine whether certain testimony constitutes ground on which prosecution can be brought under the Sherman act or any of the laws enacted at the last session of Congress. If the commission cannot secure the testimony it requires, it may devolve upon the Department of Justice to obtain the evidence which is necessary to determine whether the coal companies and the railroads are operating in violation of the Federal statutes or whether their method of conducting business is legitimate. Judge Lacombe's intimation in his decision that the Attorney-General might utilize the contracts, which the commission could not secure, in proceedings under the Federal statutes was the broadest kind of a hint to the Department of Justice. When the Interstate Commerce Commission submits its findings to the Attorney-General it will doubtless include the decision of Judge Lacombe. Representative Rixey, of Virginia, regards the declarations in Judge Lacombe's opinion as of the greatest importance. He is quoted in a Washington dispatch as saying that "Judge Lacombe's decision will make it imperative for Attorney-General Knox to push the matter himself, or for the President to issue special instructions to his Attorney-General for the prosecution of the coal combine in the Federal courts." Judge Livingston, who represents a Georgia district in the House, concurs in Representative Rixey's view. That the United States courts would be asked to pass upon the legality of the methods of the coal companies and railroads has been regarded as inevitable. It would not be surprising, in view of the inquiry conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, if the Department of Justice should find it advisable to begin proceedings at an earlier date than was expected.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Wilson Times: There are no less than 23 divorce suits on the Wake county docket and during the past year 25 divorces were obtained.

— It is said that there have been 4,400 cases of smallpox in North Carolina during the past twelve months. Of this number 160 proved fatal.

— Greensboro Record: Greensboro enjoys the distinction of being the first town to have a husband swear the peace against his wife. He says he is afraid she will do him bodily harm.

— Durham Herald: On account of a misunderstanding over a game of marbles Willy Cash, a fourteen-year-old negro, is in the Lincoln hospital being repaired, and John Smith, twelve-year-old white boy, is in the city lock-up waiting the results of the serious wound inflicted in his abdomen.

— Fayetteville Observer: Yesterday afternoon the train bound for Bennettsville struck a team at the coal schute crossing, killing one of the mules and badly hurting the other. ——The farmers in Honeycutt township and Beaman's X Roads section in Sampson county, report a great many hogs dying with cholera.

— Asheville Citizen: Henry M. Brown, who returned yesterday from a trip over the Murphy branch, says that the safe for the new bank to be established in Franklin has reached the town. Franklin is 22 miles from the railroad and the safe was hauled over the country roads by yokes of eight oxen. The wagon would break and the roads became muddy and nearly two weeks were consumed in making the trip.

—Madison Record: The tax listers of an eastern county have made out a list by which they will assess horses and other property. The rate for horses is as follows: First class, $150; second class, $100; third class, $75; plug horses, $10 to $50 each. We will venture that there will not be a dozen first class horses listed in that county, but you may look out for an overdose of plugs.

— Southern Pines special to Charlotte Observer: Up to Thursday night, June 11, fruit growers here had shipped 3,479 packages of fruit, including blackberries, peaches and plums. Just a few of the early crop of peaches have been shipped, and prices have been good. The Pine Knott Farm Company up to date mentioned had shipped seven carloads of blackberries and have many more to ship—from a farm of 30 acres. The Niagara Grape and Fruit Company, the largest growers of grapes and peaches combined in this section, have shipped some very fine plums, realizing $2.50 per crate. They will ship many car loads of the Delaware grape in four or five weeks from now.

— Pollocksville special to the Raleigh News and Observer: The sales stables of J. H. Bell was discovered to be on fire about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. The larger building was entirely consumed. The doors were battered down and the horses led out with the exception of one, which was overlooked until it was too late to save it. Three or four hundred bushels of corn, one hundred and fifty bushels of peas, three or four new buggies, a mowing machine, rake, harrow and various farming utensils were consumed. The horse that was burned had just been bought for $162.50. There was no insurance on the buildings and other property. Mr. Bell estimated his loss at $3,500. The origin of the fire is unknown, but indications point to its being incendiary.

Newbern Journal: Col. John D. Whitford, being in Raleigh in the Spring of 1873, was presented with a cutting, by Mrs. John H. Bryan, mother of Judge Bryan, of this city, from a willow which grew at the grave of Napoleon at St. Helena. Not expecting to return to Newbern in some time, the small cutting about 12 inches long was sent to his son, Reid, then a boy, with instructions to stick it down somewhere in the garden, which he did on the line near Change street. Now in thirty years it has made a tree of the following dimensions: Trunk four feet above ground, 5 feet and 2 inches in diameter, which tapering up twenty feet, was 36 inches in diameter, there it forked and made out spreading branches 35 feet each, 70 feet across. From the ground to the top of tree, was 73 feet. Some time ago the tree giving indications of decay, it was cut down yesterday.

COTTON STILL KING.

The Value of This Year's Exports May Break All Previous Records.

VOLUME LESS, PRICE GREATER

The Advance in Cost Gives the Closing Fiscal Year the Advantage Over All Those Preceding—Some Interesting Figures of the Crop.

[Special to Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The weekly bulletins of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics states that cotton is still king in the export trade of the United States. Reports indicate that this staple is likely to make a record this year.

The value of raw cotton exported in the 11 months ended with May is, according to the preliminary figures, $308,747,095, which is $5,000,000 in excess of the highest 11 months' record ever heretofore made. The highest 11 months' figures recorded by this preliminary statement in earlier years were for the period ended May, 1901, when the total stood at $303,497,617. Should the June figures equal those of June in the immediately preceding years the total for the fiscal year would be $317,000,000, or $4,000,000 in excess of the banner year, 1901.

The quantity exported this year is not as great as that of 1898 and 1899, but owing to the higher prices received the value is very much greater than that in those years, and, as already indicated, larger than that of the corresponding months of any preceding year. The total quantity exported in the 11 months ended with May, according to the preliminary statement, is 3,481,353,287 pounds, as against 3,208,621,478 pounds in the corresponding months of 1901, when the value was but $5,000,000 less than at the present time, and 3,721,310,009 pounds in 11 months of 1898, when the value was but $222,414,180. Thus the total quantity at the present time is 240,000,000 pounds less than that of the corresponding 11 months of 1898, but the value is $85,000,000 in excess of the value for the corresponding period of that year. The average price a pound of the cotton exported, determined by dividing the number of pounds into the value stated by the records, is for the 11 months ended with May, 1903, 8.87 cents, and for the 11 months ended with May, 1898, 5.97 cents.

Comparing the total value of cotton exported with those of preceding years, it may be said that 1903 seems likely to show the largest total value in raw cotton exports of any year in the history of American commerce. In 1848 the total value of raw cotton exported was, in round terms, $62,000,000; in 1860, $192,000,000; in 1870, $227,000,000 in paper, but $184,000,000 stated in gold; in 1880, $211,000,000; in 1890, $250,000,000; in 1900, $242,000,000; in 1901, $313,000,000, and, as already indicated, it seems likely to be for 1903 $317,000,000.

Meantime the value of cotton exported in manufactured form has also increased and will make its highest record in the present fiscal year. The total value of cotton manufactures exported in the 10 months ended with April is $27,932,559, indicating that the total for the full fiscal year probably will be about $34,000,000, as against $33,000,000 in 1902, $24,000,000 in 1900, $10,000,000 in 1890, $10,000,000 in 1890, $10,000,000 in 1880 and $4,000,000 in 1870.

Meanwhile the importations of foreign cotton, chiefly Egyptian, are growing with remarkable rapidity, the importations in the present year likely to reach 80,000,000 pounds, to which may be added 20,000,000 pounds of "flocks," or cotton waste, with a total valuation of about $12,000,000, as against 43,000,000 pounds of raw cotton and $78,000, pounds of waste imported in 1893, valued at less than $5,000,000.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The cotton market opened easy at a decline of nine to thirteen points and ruled generally weak under lower cables, better crop accounts, favorable weather and realizing, the close being at within a point or two of the lowest for the session, and the market was finally steady at a decline of eleven to thirty-six points. The initial losses were due to a very weak turn in the Liverpool market, which after opening about as due almost immediately sold down under what private cables attributed to profit taking by the bulls and closed net five to eight points lower. With the local contingent bearish because of the high prices recently attained, the better weather reported from the belt and port receipts larger than estimated, the foreign weakness was naturally productive of heavy realizing. At the first sign of weakness the bears also began hammering prices and while just after the call there was a momentary halt in the downward trend midday found the market about fifteen to twenty points under Monday's closing. At this level the weekly report of the Weather Bureau was read and indicated, according to local opinion, a better degree of progress during the week than had been expected. The immediate result of the report was a break of from five to six points and after that the market ruled rather irregular for a a time, moving first this way and then that, at times showing partial recoveries, but working downward in the main and until just a few minutes before the gong, when there was enough covering to impart steadiness without materially helping prices. Total receipts were estimated at 3,739 bales, against 5,260 bales last year, and 2,800 bales, the figure expected early.

CHEERLESS OUTLOOK

How the Future Was Brightened for a Well Known Wilmington Man.

With an aching back that makes the daily toil a torture, and that robs sleep of its restful properties, the future holds out little promise to a man, no matter how successful he may be in business. To such a sufferer relief comes like the dawn of the Arctic day. A Wilmington business man who found relief of this sort tells his story of his case.

A. V. Horrell, proprietor of restaurant at 505 South Fourth street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me a lot of good. I have been a great sufferer with backache, which I supposed to be rheumatism, and used all the rheumatic cures I could get hold of. I was completely laid up with it and could scarcely get around, to do any work was simply out of the question. My sister, reading about Doan's Kidney Pills and knowing how I suffered, went to Bellamy's drug store and got me a box. They acted like a charm. My backache or rheumatism, whatever it was, has entirely left me, and I give all the credit to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

COZY LITTLE HOME.

A Six Room Dwelling With All Modern Improvements—Cost, $1,200.

[Copyright, 1903, by Dennis & Gastmeyer, architects, 280 Broadway, New York.]

By request we herewith present to our readers a model design and plan for a cozy little home suitable for almost any location. It is neat and complete in every respect. One of its good features is that it can be built on a twenty-five foot lot, which makes it desirable for suburban places near large cities. There is a cellar under the entire house. The cellar has a cemented floor and a hot air furnace which heats the whole house.

The parlor is 12 by 12 feet, the dining room 12 feet by 12 feet 6 inches, the kitchen 9 feet 6 inches by 12 feet, the pantry 5 feet 8 inches, the entry 3 feet 6 inches by 4 feet, the main bedroom 12 by 19 feet and the others 8 by 12 and 9 by 12 feet. The bathroom is 4 feet 6 inches by 6 feet 6 inches.

The frame of the house is of hemlock lumber and sheathings. The walls are covered with two ply building paper, narrow beveled siding and shingles in gables.

The main roof is shingled with random width shingles. The windows are fitted with outside pine blinds with rolling slats, and the columns of the piazza are of turned cypress, finished in natural wood.

The exterior is painted two coats of lead and oil paints, the body zinc white, trimmings colonial yellow, sash light green and blinds dark brick red. The piazza ceiling is of North Carolina pine, finished in natural wood with a high gloss.

The floors are laid with narrow hard white pine, and the walls are plastered with patent plaster, one good coat of scratch mortar and white sand, put on one-half inch grounds, well troweled out straight, smooth and even, and left a perfect sand finish.

The trim is of kiln dried cypress of special patterns, finished with water color stains, properly rubbed, and two good coats of flat varnish. The stairs are of cypress, with ash newels, rails and balusters of a colonial detail. The house is wired and fitted with gas fixtures. The mantels are of plain dark oak, with large mirrors and tiled facings. The stairs run to the attic from the second floor, which is floored throughout. The pantry and the closets are finished and fitted, as shown, with shelves, hooks, etc.

The kitchen contains modern plumbing, with stone tubs, galvanized iron sink, back, brackets and boiler. The range is portable, with a warming closet, hood and register. The bathroom has a steel clad bathtub. The basin is porcelain in a marble slab and backs, with molded edges. All exposed work in the bathroom is nickel plated.

This is a home worthy of the careful consideration of those intending to build. Cost, $1,200.

His Own Crafty Way.

Fusilby—Human nature is a funny thing. It was said I had quit drinking, and everybody I met asked me to take something.

Glassby—And you couldn't accept? Poor fellow!

Fusilby—Oh, yes, I accepted every time. It was I who started the reformation story, you know.—Boston Transcript.

She "Hoped" For Their Happiness.

The Newly Wed—Edith did the hatefulest thing at our reception, and I'll never forgive her.

Cousin Jane—Why, what could it be?

The Newly Wed—She addressed Charles in the most pitying manner and said, "I hope you'll be happy." The way she uttered that word "hope" was positively unbearable.

Went Too Far.

He had a bundle of papers under his arm and was standing near a railway station weeping.

"What is the matter, my boy?" said a pleasant faced gentleman.

"If I go home without selling my papers, me father and mother will beat the life out of me."

"That's bad."

"Yes, sir; but the worst of it is I am an only orphin."

"Yes," replied the philanthropist, allowing a coin to drop back into his pocket. "It doesn't often happen that a boy has such bad luck."—Chums.

Irregularity and Nervousness

This Testimony of 1,500,000 Cured Women Confirmed by MRS. EMILIE DANFORTH, 233 Thirty-Second Street, Chicago, Vice-President Woman's Indian Association.

CHICAGO, ILL., Sept. 29, 1902.

I feel it my duty to let my afflicted sisters know of the potency of Wine of Cardui for female troubles. It takes the place of a doctor in my family. I have had experience with different kinds of medicine but nothing I ever saw or heard of would compare with your medicine. It is an ideal home medicine and when doctors fail Wine of Cardui will cure. It cured me of irregularities and nervousness when I felt as if nothing I did would help me. People don't sympathize with those suffering with unstrung nerves. I want to thank you most heartily for what Wine of Cardui has done for me and mine. I am in perfect health now and it is all due to your medicine which is certainly without an equal. Emilie Danforth

It is women's nature to be patient. A nervous, irritative woman is always sick. The scolding of the housewife is generally the cry of distress of some suffering mother, racked with unstrung nerves caused by irregular menstruation, bearing down pains or some other form of female weakness that is making her not herself. Household cares never wring from the heart the cry of anguish that the torture of bearing down pains do.

It is female weakness that is killing so many mothers. It is sad to see sweet tempered and loving mothers becoming haggard, sickly, cross and nervous unlovely creatures when even their nearest relatives and dearest friends never know enough of the truth to give sympathy.

People do not understand female weakness and its power to crush a woman's life. Mrs. Danforth knows about it and she wrote this letter to show sick, tired, nervous and worn out women the way to health.

She has shown you that Wine of Cardui is the best and surest medicine to take to secure health. You owe it to your family and friends to secure health. You can have health by taking Wine of Cardui. Why not begin now? There is no better time. There is no surer way. Wine of Cardui imparts health and strength to the female organism. This relieves the nerves of strain and tension. This medicine eliminates bearing down pains. It banishes the last traces of irritation of the membranes and maintains regularity in the menstrual flow.

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

WINE of CARDUI

The members of a country church in York state have adopted a novel method of paying off the church debt. All eggs laid on Sunday by the hens belonging to the membership of the church are to be devoted to this purpose. Thus old biddy's cackle on the Sabbath day will become a religious song of praise.

There is a growing disposition on the part of hog raisers to keep their pigs longer before fattening them for the market, letting them make a good frame on grass and clover and finishing them off at about a year old. This method certainly insures more rational and healthful conditions for the pig and will prove a step in the right direction to prevent the ravages of the cholera.

A $3,000,000 irrigation scheme in connection with the use of the water of the Snake river in Idaho, which is now under way, will reclaim 340,000 acres of land under the new government irrigation law. The profits connected with this scheme may be readily understood, for this land, now a worthless desert, will become worth $40 or $50 per acre just as soon as the water is turned upon it.

Worst of All Experiences.

Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Newson, of Decatur, Ala. "For three years," she writes, "I endured insufferable pain from Indigestion, Stomach and Bowel trouble. Death seemed inevitable when doctors and all remedies failed. At length I was induced to try Electric Bitters, and the result was miraculous. I improved at once, and now I am completely recovered." For Liver, Kidney, Stomach and Bowel troubles Electric Bitters is the only medicine. Only 50 cents. It is guaranteed by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist. †

Bug Death

Kills Potato, Squash and Cucumber Bugs, Currant and Tomato Worms, and all bugs and worms that chew the leaves of plants.

BUG DEATH is a tenacious powder, very fine, like dust, adheres to the vine, and is almost impossible to wash off.

BUG DEATH can be applied dry with Perfection Shaker or a coarse cloth, or, what is better, mixed with water at the rate of 1 pound to 5 gallons water, and sprayed with any of the hand sprayers.

Bug Death { Kills the bugs. Feeds the plant. Increases the yield. Produces better quality

The phenomenal sale BUG DEATH has had during the comparatively short time it has been on the American and Canadian markets, and the hearty endorsement given by truckers and merchants throughout both countries must convince the most skeptical that it has all the merits claimed for it.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 17.

MARCUM MURDER TRIAL AT JACKSON, KENTUCKY.

Witness Ewen and Family at the Military Camp--Feared That He Will be Killed. Witnesses for Defence Testify.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JACKSON, KY., June 16.—B. L. Ewen and his family are still in the military camp here and contributions for him are coming from all parts of Kentucky and other States. There are apprehensions that Ewen will be picked off at long range by some sharpshooter while he is in camp, and arrangements are being made for his removal to Lexington.

When court convened this morning the defence placed Dr. J. M. Kash on the stand. Dr. Kash was the first man to reach Marcum after the assassin had shot him. Dr. Kash testified that he saw Jett on the walk at the corner of the court house yard ten seconds before the shots were fired. He went directly to Marcum and assisted in carrying him across the street into his office, where he died in five minutes. Commonwealth Attorney Byrd cross-examined Dr. Kash, but did not shake his story.

Dr. John Taulee, the Hargis family physician, was next placed on the stand and he corroborated Dr. Kash and other defence witnesses.

Just before noon the grand jury filed into the court room and made its report to Judge Redwine on the burning of Ewen's hotel. The foreman said no evidence was found against Joseph Crawford and Edward Thorpe, and it had been decided to order their release. Crawford and Thorpe there upon were liberated. Ewen has left the camp and gone out of town. The grand jury was not dismissed.

John Smith testified that he was eighteen feet from the court house door and saw White come across the street toward the Hargis store, saw Ewen and Marcum. He saw Jett about ten seconds before the shots were fired. He was looking at Marcum and Ewen when the first shot was fired. Ewen did not look back. Smith is one of the men that Marcum said was in the plot to assassinate him.

County Judge James Hargis, an uncle of Jett and the reputed head of the Hargis faction, was called. Hargis stated that he was inside his store when Marcum was killed. He saw White walk out of the court house door and he was one-third across the street when the first shot was fired. "When I heard the first shot fired I saw Ewen pitch out of the door and run. I then saw Marcum fall. I came to the door hurriedly. I saw Judge Blanton approach the wounded man, I saw Curtis Jett approaching the scene of the tragedy. My recollection is that I saw Dr. Kash approaching about the time the last shot was fired; I am not certain as to the exact time.

"Lige Noble was in my store and Sheriff Ed. Callahan was also in the store. I was looking toward the court house when the shot was fired. I did not see Ewen look in the hall when the first shot was fired. After the killing I sent Ewen or Callahan sent for him."

Hargis stated that he did not know who killed Marcum.

Cross examined by Commonwealth Attorney Byrd, Hargis said he saw nothing unusual in White's actions when he came out of the door.

"Did you see Curt Jett anywhere when the shots were fired?" asked Byrd.

"I saw Curt."

"Answer my question," said Mr. Byrd.

"No, I did not see him."

After a few more questions Hargis was excused by the commonwealth.

Sheriff Callahan testified that when Marcum was killed he was in Hargis' store looking out of the window at Marcum and Ewen. He saw Ewen jump out of the door and run, and saw Marcum stagger and fall. He saw Jett near the court house walk to the corner. He said he saw some one in the hallway of the court house, but could not tell who it was for the smoke. He saw White across the street.

James Back, another witness for the defence, testified that he expected to get pay for testifying.

THE BUREAU'S CROP REPORT.

Low Temperature Retards the Growth of Vegetation—Cotton Continues Backward—Tobacco Doing Well

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 16. — The Weather Bureau's weekly crop report in part is as follows:

For the week ending June 15th, the weather was abnormally cool in nearly all districts east of the Rocky Mountains, the minimum temperature from the 10th to the 13th throughout the central valleys and Southern States being the lowest of record for the second decade of June, and heavy frosts were of general occurrence in the upper Missouri valley with light frosts as far south as Tennessee. Under these conditions the growth of vegetation has been slow.

Cotton continues very backward, having made slow growth under abnormally low temperatures. Chopping has made favorable progress throughout the belt, but cultivation is not well advanced except in portions of the central districts. Rains have been beneficial in Texas, where fair stands of early planted are now indicated, but cut worms are proving injurious in north central and boll weevil continue destructive in south central counties.

All reports respecting tobacco indicate that this crop has made favorable progress and the transplanting is now finished, except in the more northerly sections and on some bottom lands in Virginia and Ohio.

Governor Charles B. Aycock, of North Carolina, delivered the annual address before the literary societies of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., in the University chapel last night. His subject was "Education."

Great Thanksgiving Services Celebrated at the Cathedral in Belgrade.

GREEK CHURCH CEREMONIAL.

The Aged Metropolitan Thanked the Army for What it Had Done—The People Are Still Rejoicing—A Funeral Procession.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

BELGRADE, SERVIA, June 16.—A deputation of the two chambers, composed of four senators and twenty deputies, headed by the presidents of the two houses, left Belgrade by special train last night to inform King Peter of his election to the throne. The officers who have been appointed to attend the king went on the same train. The deputation is expected to return here with the king on Monday or Tuesday next.

The chamber met at 10 o'clock this morning and adjourned for the purpose of going to the cathedral, where a great thanksgiving service, including a te deum, was celebrated. The ministers attended the service, which was carried out with all the stately ceremonial of the Greek Church. The cathedral presented a picturesque scene. The aged Metropolitan, in gorgeous vestments of purple and cloth of gold and with jewelled mitre, was surrounded by the bishops and priests of the cathedral chapter. Half the congregation was composed of army officers in full uniform. The ministers wore dress suits and all their orders. The Metropolitan, in a brief address, congratulated the nation on the restoration of the Karageorgeovitch dynasty, a dynasty which had included so many brave and noble men. While deploring the necessity for recent events he thanked the army for what it had done and praised its behavior. The officers audibly expressed their pleasure at these remarks from the prelate, who concluded with invoking a blessing on King Peter and expressing the hope that under him Servia would enjoy peace and prosperity.

The town is perfectly calm and quiet is apparently assured.

Guns boomed frequently in honor of King Peter, the church bells rang merrily, and simultaneously along the main street marched a funeral procession. Accompanied by all the panopoly of the Greek church, a regiment of soldiers, with its bands, was carrying to the grave the remains of a young lieutenant, to whom had been accorded the title of the "Army's Hero," a title which was gained as follows:

"The commandant of a division encamped in the environs of Belgrade was surprised in the palace by the conspirators on the night of the assassinations and managed to escape. He found a mounted orderly, took his horse and galloped to the encampment of his division to summon some of the regiments to the assistance of the king. Just before reaching the camp, the lieutenant who was buried to-day, overtook the commandant and in the sanguinary fight which ensued the commandant was killed and the lieutenant was mortally wounded. He died yesterday."

The new royal ciphers are reaching the military depots to-day and will be served out to the army before the arrival of King Peter.

The portraits of the late King Alexander are being removed from the walls of public offices and placed in lumber rooms.

Workmen were busy all day and night at the palace removing all signs of the tragedy and repairing the damages caused by flying bullets, preparatory to the installation of the new ruler.

It appears very unlikely that an official account of the crime will be published. The absence of all expression of regret among the educated classes is most striking, and leads to the conclusion that either the assassinations were extremely popular or the Servians are the most impassive people in the world. As a matter of fact the whole country is governed by a few men and in many cases the peasantry are ignorant of the cause of the change.

A Military Dictatorship.

BELGRADE, June 16.—The position of King Peter I promises to be little more than that of a royal captive; the real government of the country will be a military dictatorship under the leadership of the revolutionists. Colonel Machin and Colonel Mitschitish. The new king is almost without any personal adherents, and the ruling spirits of the army, it is thought probable, would just as readily murder him as they did his predecessor should he oppose their aims.

At the present moment the whole country is under military rule and although no prefects in the country districts have been revoked, an army officer attends each prefect wherever he goes, even to the telephone. This policy has led to one good result—not a single case of disorder anywhere has been reported.

Extremely forcible arguments were found necessary to suppress the radical aspirations of a republic. The foremost advocate of the creation of a republican form of government was Ljubomir Schikovics, the editor of the Belgrade Odjek. Finding him impervious to arguments the conspirators invited him to a dinner at the officers' club last Saturday. During the dinner the idea was put him that unless he agreed to support Prince Peter Karageorgevitch there would be one head less in Belgrade that night. M. Schikovics yielded to the force of this reasoning and accepted the situation. He is now minister of justice in the new government.

The deliberations of the members of the Senate and Skupschina on the republic question were materially hastened by the attendance of one of the leaders of the revolution, Colonel Mitschitch. The colonel took no part in the proceedings but his presence was significant enough to induce the members to adopt the army's choice.

Inquiries in official circles everywhere elicit the assurance that the people are delighted with the action of the government, but conversation overheard in public places indicates that the people, especially those living outside the capital, know little and care little about the trend of national politics. One of the features in all the shop windows now is the display of large pictures of King Peter, freshly painted, the cuts having been brought from abroad. Two peasants were heard discussing one of these prints to-day. The first asked who it was.

"The new king, Karageorgevitch," replied the second.

"Why did they kill the last king?"

"I don't know. I think he had some trouble with the army."

"Suppose this one has trouble with the army?"

"They will kill him, too," came the unconcerned response.

It is believed that the army will try to make secret terms with the new king by which it will retain the supremacy gained by the tragedy, but whether the king will agree to the conditions is uncertain.

One of the highest officials of the present government asked a number of foreign journalists what Europe thought of the way in which the Servian revolution was carried out. He was told bluntly that it was considered a brutal act. He thereupon explained that, from his point of view, the assassination of the king and queen was an act of mercy, as by utterly destroying the sovereigns the likelihood of a civil war was precluded.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT CHARLOTTESVILLE.

Made Two Addresses Before the Alumni of the University—A Warm Greeting from the Students

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., June 16.—President Roosevelt to-day wound up his tour of the continent in a visit to the University of Virginia. This was alumni day at the University and the occasion was made memorable by the presence of the President and many distinguished men in public life, some of them graduates of the University.

The reception accorded the President was a particularly warm one and he was greeted with ringing cheers when he arose to speak before the alumni in the public hall and the student body at the luncheon tendered him in the gymnasium and they were renewed several times during his two speeches.

The President when he arrived here at 11:30 o'clock this morning was escorted direct to the University grounds and in the famous rotunda building, standing near the statue of Thomas Jefferson, the father of the University, he held a reception. Thence he was escorted to the public hall, where he delivered his principal address. Later, at a luncheon in the gymnasium, he responded to the toast "the United States." Others who replied to toasts were Senator John W. Daniel, "Virginia;" W. R. Meredith, of Richmond, "Our Alma Mater;" Ambassador McCormick, our representative in Russia, "The Louisiana Purchase;" Henry F. Pritchard, president of the Boston school of technology, "Our Sister Institutions," and Thomas Nelson Page, "the President."

At the conclusion of the luncheon the President and Mrs. Roosevelt mounted horses and rode out to Monticello, the home of Jefferson, where they and others were entertained, and at 7 o'clock the special train left for Washington.

Among those present at to-day's exercises in addition to the President were Ambassador McCormick, Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, Senators Daniel and Martin, of Virginia; Carter Glass, member of Congress from Virginia; Hon. Epps Hunton, former Senator from Virginia; Judge Anderson, of Washington and Thos. Nelson Page of Virginia.

The President's special train arrived here from Washington at 11:30 o'clock this forenoon. The Monticello Guards were on duty at the depot and kept back the crowd that had assembled to see the distinguished guest. The President was cheered as he stepped from his car. He was met by Dr. Paul Barringer, chairman of the faculty of the University; Judge George W. Morris, chairman of to-day's exercises, and a committee of alumni. The party was driven direct to the University, where the exercises were held in the public hall.

The address before the alumni association which was first on the programme had been prepared by Judge William Gordon Robertson, of Roanoke, and was to have been delivered by him. He, however, was detained at home by illness and his address was read by R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, a member of the board of visitors of the University. Judge Morris then in a short speech of welcome introduced the President. After the applause which greeted his appearance had subsided, the President delivered his address.

THE DISASTER AT HEPPNER, OREGON.

The Casualty List Will Reach Five Hundred and Property Loss a Million.

ACCOUNTS OF EYE-WITNESSES

A Wall of Water Four Hundred Feet Wide and Twenty Feet Deep Swept Valley With Resistless Force. People Had No Warning.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

THE DALLES, ORE., June 16.—A telephone message from Ione states that the latest find in the ruins of Heppner indicates that the loss of life will be much greater than at first supposed. The casualty list will foot up five hundred and many of the bodies will never be recovered. The property loss and destruction of buildings alone will aggregate probably a million dollars. This is regarded as a conservative estimate. One hundred and fifty of the best residences were swept from the earth. The debris is piled along the railroad track to the height of freight cars. The relief work is progressing at a satisfactory pace.

IONE, ORE., June 16.—The names of 189 persons whose bodies have been recovered, or who are missing and believed to be dead as a result of the Heppner flood, have been obtained. In addition the bodies of seven Chinese, three Japanese and twenty-one strangers and babies, names unknown, go to swell the list.

Elias Connor, a stock raiser, of Ione, returned from Heppner at 2 o'clock this morning. "It is known," said Mr. Connor, "that at least 275 or 300 people were drowned, 115 corpses have been hastily buried in wood boxes and some were merely wrapped in blankets. There were still several wagon loads of dead on their way to the cemetery when I left; Heppner itself has now been pretty well searched, except in piles of debris where it is thought great numbers of bodies will be found.

"Between Ione and Heppner," said Mr. Connor, "there are great piles of debris, but the flood passed so quickly that the roads have not been seriously damaged. It looks strange to see the heavy steel rails bent and twisted like cork screws and the heavy timbers splintered like matchwood.

"In Heppner itself the flood swept clean a path a mile long and two blocks wide through the town, following generally the course of Willow Creek."

PENDLETON, OREGON, June 16.—Three men who survived the flood at Heppner, R. D. Ball, J. J. Kelly and A. P. Bradbury, have arrived here after having witnessed the destruction of the town and assisted in the work of rescue. Mr. Kelly said:

"The rain was not falling in Heppner, but could be seen some distance away. Sharp flashes of lightning were accompanied by the howling thunder. Then, suddenly, the thunder died away, and a low noise was heard, very faint at first, but growing louder. The city is situated on Willow Creek, which makes a sharp turn above the city. As the noise grew louder and louder, the people became frantic. Then in a moment the van of the flood burst into view around the curve of the creek, carrying on its crest the cabins and houses which stood in its path. The people made a rush to the hills, but were too late. The flood was upon them. The little river in five minutes was transformed into a roaring torrent 400 feet wide and twenty feet deep. People were caught in their homes and forced to crawl out on the roofs. Then as the house moved down the stream they caught on to the trees and hung there until morning when they were rescued."

PORTLAND, ORE., June 16.—A special to the Oregonian from Ione, Ore., says:

David McAtee, a business man of Heppner, whose residence is on a bench above Heppner, was an eye witness of the disaster. In company with Frank Spaulding he left Heppner about 10:30 o'clock Sunday night on horseback.

"On Sunday afternoon," said Mr. McAtee, "there had been a severe rain storm, accompanied with much wind and lightning. I was standing in front of the house and noticed that a cloud of remarkable density approached the top of the hill on the east side of the canyon. I turned for a moment when a roar caused me to look again at the hill. I saw a wall of water, the height of which I would be afraid to gauge, rushing down the mountain, carrying immense trees and timbers on its crest and tearing the very rocks from the foundations. The terrific storm struck the upper part of the town first. The residence of Thomas Howard was the first to fall and his entire family was drowned. In the Krug home, also, every person was drowned, as was the case in the Hale and Saling residences. All of these houses were about four or five blocks above the business center. The house of Abraham Hamsick was entirely demolished. The Palace Hotel was the first building to stem the tide and all the guests were saved, but the houses below that structure were blown out into the street, overturned and wrecked. The residence of G. A. Rhea was carried away and the entire family, consisting of wife and three daughters and Miss Adkins, a cousin, were lost.

"C. E. Redfield whose residence was completely destroyed, was absent, but his wife and baby were drowned.

"A. C. Gieger's house was carried away and Mr. Gieger was drowned. His family is in the East.

"George Consor's house was reached next, but the family succeeded in saving their lives by rushing to the upper stories, the house being carried down the creek three-quarters of a mile. Rescuers found that the house had been cut in two and Mr. Consor was standing in water up to his neck holding his wife upon the roof and urging her not to slip with his outstretched arms. Mr. A. W. Ayres and family who was living in the same residence was drowned.

"Oscar Miner's house was next demolished and Mrs. Miner drowned. The rest of the family succeeded in saving their lives by clinging to the roof. All of the Wells family but two were lost and the house was carried away. With the Wells residence went the house of George Swaggert. Mr. Swaggert's two married daughters were drowned with their five children. The Mallory house was carried 150 yards and was found lodged against a store and Mr. Mallory, a crippled man, was found safe holding a baby. James Matlock's house was next. Dr. Higgs' house also went. Here one child was drowned, but the rest of the family escaped. Mrs. Elder was drowned in her residence. The houses of Mr. Boyd and of Mr. Walton were also destroyed and both families lost.

"Perhaps the greatest loss of life occurred at the Heppner hotel. This house, which was run under the management of Jones and Ashbaugh, was carried away. It is supposed that there were about fifty guests located in this hotel, all of whom are reported to be lost. The proprietors themselves were saved but their families are among the dead.

"James Kernan, the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company agent, met his death at the telegraph key, trying to call Portland to inform the outside world of the impending calamity.

"One of the most thrilling adventures was that of Tom Shuter, who with his family was carried down stream in his house for a mile and a half. His wife and two children stepped into the upper rooms. Below town the house was shot across the creek to the west side, where it lodged in the debris, 150 yards from the canyon banks. Shuter then took his two little ones and swam a hundred yards. He landed the children and then rescued his wife.

"Seventy-five men are digging graves on the hill side. Prompt measures are being taken to prevent a plague. The weather threatens to become hot and a relief corps to clean the town is urgently needed."

Upon receipt of the sad news of the death of her daughter, Mrs. Ludwig Vollers, of Point Caswell, yesterday suffered a sudden attack at her home in Point Caswell, N. C., and died within two hours.
